MES Business team boosted by new appointment

Siemens Healthcare appoints medical technology hard hitter

Tony Clayton has been appointed as a Business Development Executive to Siemens Healthcare. Tony will provide support to the Managed Equipment Services (MES) business unit, investigating new business opportunities and supporting existing customer partnerships. He will also help hospital Trusts integrate MES with LEAN philosophies in order to produce fast and efficient methods of workflow.

Before his recent appointment to Siemens, Tony held a number of medical technology positions. These include Business Development and Product Specialist roles at Philips, GE and Ferranti Healthcare Information.

Tony is a qualified radiographer and also holds two Masters Degrees in Business Administration and Marketing Practice.

“We are delighted to welcome Tony,” states Paul Milligan, Head of PFI and Major Projects at Siemens Healthcare. “His wide range of experience and qualifications will assist us considerably in supporting our growing Managed Equipment Service team.”

In his spare time, Tony enjoys DIY and restoring classic cars. He hopes one day to take part in the Mongol Rally which involves driving 9,000 miles to Ulaanbaatar, the capital of Mongolia to raise money for charity.
